Harmon Releases Audit of Pulaski County Sheriff's Office

FRANKFORT, Ky. – State Auditor Mike Harmon today released the audit of the 2015 financial statement of Pulaski County Sheriff Greg Speck. State law requires the auditor to annually audit the accounts of each county sheriff. In compliance with this law, the auditor issues two sheriff's reports each year: one reporting on the audit of the sheriff's tax account, and the other reporting on the audit of the fee account used to operate the office.

Auditing standards require the auditor's letter to communicate whether the financial statement presents fairly the receipts, disbursements, and excess fees of the Pulaski County Sheriff in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. The sheriff's financial statement did not follow this format. However, the sheriff's financial statement is fairly presented in conformity with the regulatory basis of accounting, which is an acceptable reporting methodology. This reporting methodology is followed for all 120 sheriff audits in Kentucky.

As part of the audit process, the auditor must comment on non-compliance with laws, regulations, contracts and grants. The auditor must also comment on material weaknesses involving the internal control over financial operations and reporting.

The audit contains the following comment:

The sheriff's office lacks adequate segregation of duties over receipts. The sheriff's bookkeeper collects payments from customers, prepares deposits, posts transactions to the receipts ledger, and prepares monthly bank reconciliations. The sheriff or another employee did not document oversight of any of these activities. To adequately protect assets from misappropriation of assets or inaccurate financial reporting, duties involving the preparation of receipts and the receipts ledger should be separated. This condition is a result of a limited budget, which restricts the number of employees the sheriff can hire or delegate duties to.

Lack of oversight could result in undetected misappropriation of assets and inaccurate financial reporting to external agencies such as the Department for Local Government.

The segregation of duties over various accounting functions such as opening mail, preparing deposits, recording receipts, and preparing monthly reports, or the implementation of compensating controls is essential for providing protection from asset misappropriation and inaccurate financial reporting. Additionally, proper segregation of duties protects employees in the normal course of performing their daily responsibilities.

We recommend the sheriff separate the duties involved in receiving cash, preparing deposits, posting to ledgers, preparing monthly bank reconciliations, and comparing financial reports to ledgers. If this is not feasible, due to a limited budget, cross checking procedures could be implemented and documented by the individual performing the procedure.

Sheriff's response: The duties of the bookkeeper will no longer include accepting payments from customers. This action, along with the compensating controls already in place, should correct this issue.

The sheriff's responsibilities include collecting property taxes, providing law enforcement and performing services for the county fiscal court and courts of justice. The sheriff's office is funded through statutory commissions and fees collected in conjunction with these duties.
