Harmon Releases Audit of Fleming County Clerk's Fee Account

FRANKFORT, Ky. – State Auditor Mike Harmon today released the audit of the 2021 financial statement of Fleming County Clerk Jarrod R. Fritz. State law requires the auditor to conduct annual audits of county clerks and sheriffs.

Auditing standards require the auditor's letter to communicate whether the financial statement presents fairly the receipts, disbursements and excess fees of the Fleming County Clerk in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. The clerk's financial statement did not follow this format. However, the clerk's financial statement is fairly presented in conformity with the regulatory basis of accounting, which is an acceptable reporting methodology. This reporting methodology is followed for all 120 clerk audits in Kentucky.

As part of the audit process, the auditor must comment on noncompliance with laws, regulations, contracts, and grants. The auditor must also comment on material weaknesses involving the internal control over financial operations and reporting.

The audit contains the following finding:

The county clerk's office does not have adequate segregation of duties: This is a repeat finding and was included in the prior year audit report as Finding 2020-001. The Fleming County Clerk's Office does not have adequate segregation of duties. A deputy clerk prepares the bank reconciliations. The deputy initials the statement when completed, but there is no documentation of review by the county clerk. The county clerk or one of two deputies prepares checks for all disbursements and posts to the disbursements ledger. There is no documentation that this work is reviewed. The county clerk and two deputies are the authorized check signers and only one signature is required on checks. If the county clerk does not sign the check, both deputies sign it.

According to the county clerk, the clerk's office has a small budget which limits the number of employees he can hire. The lack of adequate segregation of duties can result in undetected misstatements and inaccurate financial reporting. To adequately protect assets, effective segregation of duties involving deposit preparation, recording of receipts, reconciling the bank account, and posting disbursements to ledgers is essential. Additionally, proper segregation of duties protects employees in the normal course of performing their daily responsibilities. Good internal controls dictate that duties should be adequately segregated, or compensating controls implemented to ensure accurate financial reporting.

We recommend the county clerk segregate duties or implement strong compensating controls to mitigate risks. If duties cannot be adequately segregated due to a limited number of staff, compensating controls are recommended. We recommend the county clerk implement compensating controls, such as:

- The county clerk should review the deputy clerk's bank reconciliations for accuracy and compare to the ledgers and ending financial statement balances.
- The county clerk or another deputy should review disbursements ledger postings.

The reviews should be documented in writing, detailing who performed the reconciliation and review.

County Clerk's Response: The official did not provide a response.

The county clerk's responsibilities include collecting certain taxes, issuing licenses, maintaining county records and providing other services. The clerk's office is funded through statutory fees collected in conjunction with these duties.
