Harmon Releases Audit of Robertson County Sheriff's Tax Settlement

FRANKFORT, Ky. – State Auditor Mike Harmon today released the audit of the sheriff's settlement – 2021 taxes for Robertson County Sheriff Terry Gray. State law requires the auditor to annually audit the accounts of each county sheriff. In compliance with this law, the auditor issues two sheriff's reports each year: one reporting on the audit of the sheriff's tax account, and the other reporting on the audit of the fee account used to operate the office.

Auditing standards require the auditor's letter to communicate whether the sheriff's settlement presents fairly the taxes charged, credited, and paid in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. The sheriff's settlement is prepared on the regulatory basis, which is described in the auditor's opinion letter. Regulatory basis reporting for the sheriff's settlement is an acceptable reporting methodology, and this reporting methodology is followed for all 120 sheriff settlements in Kentucky.

The sheriff's financial statement fairly presents the taxes charged, credited and paid for the period October 1, 2021 through August 31, 2022 in conformity with the regulatory basis of accounting.

As part of the audit process, the auditor must comment on noncompliance with laws, regulations, contracts, and grants. The auditor must also comment on material weaknesses involving the internal control over financial operations and reporting.

The audit contains the following finding:

The sheriff's office does not have adequate segregation of duties: The sheriff's office does not have adequate segregation of duties. The employee responsible for handling tax receipts also records the receipts in the ledger, prepares bank deposits, and performs monthly bank reconciliations. Furthermore, this same employee prepares the disbursement checks and is responsible for preparing monthly reports that document the amounts to be paid to each taxing district. According to the sheriff, this condition is a result of a limited budget which restricts the number of employees the sheriff can hire or delegate duties to. Having the same employee performing these functions increases the risk of undetected errors or fraud.

The segregation of duties over various accounting functions such as opening mail, preparing deposits, recording receipts and disbursements, and preparing monthly reports, or the implementation of compensating controls is essential for providing protection from asset misappropriation and inaccurate financial reporting. Additionally, proper segregation of duties protects employees in the normal course of performing their daily responsibilities.

We recommend the sheriff segregate the duties in his office for handling receipts, disbursements, and bank reconciliations. If this is not possible, we recommend the sheriff implement compensating controls to help mitigate the lack of adequate segregation of duties to a control deficiency. The sheriff should agree the daily collection report to the deposit and have the bookkeeper co-sign all checks. Also, the sheriff should review and sign the bank reconciliations. The sheriff should document each of the above mentioned procedures.

Sheriff's Response: I review the daily collections/deposit report and initial the deposit slip on a regular basis. At the end of the month, I review disbursements and checks written for those disbursements to each district. The disbursement report shows the bank reconciliation at the end of each month, I also initial that report. This is the procedure that works best for our small office.

The sheriff's responsibilities include collecting property taxes, providing law enforcement and performing services for the county fiscal court and courts of justice. The sheriff's office is funded through statutory commissions and fees collected in conjunction with these duties.

The audit report can be found on the auditor's website.
